Petronella Applesauce. Bewitched and Glued Stuck (Vol.1)

(Petronella Apfelmus. Verhext und zugeklebt)

Hardcover

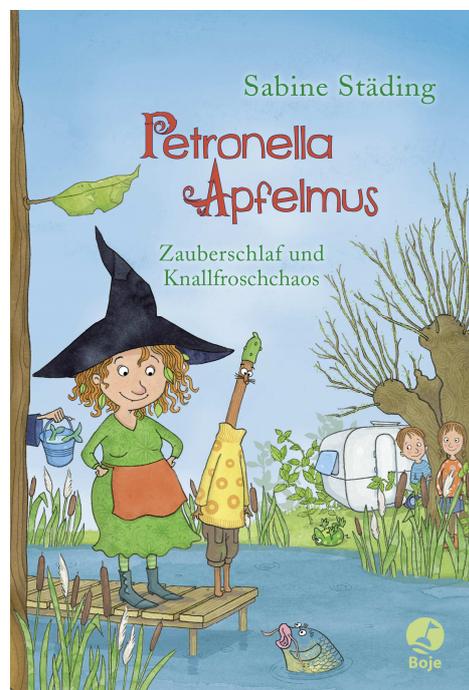

207 pages

July 2014

Ages 8+

A little witch by the name of Petronella Applesauce lives in the garden of an old mill. There, inside an apple, she has made a cozy home for herself. But then one day, Mr. and Mrs. Cakeburner and their two children move into the mill and that's the end of Petronella's peace and quiet. In the beginning, the little witch tries to scare the new tenants away. But then, Lea and Luis discover the magic rope ladder leading to Petronella's apple and, all of a sudden, they are standing right in the middle of her little house. Petronella quickly understands that these two are pretty great. It doesn't take long and the children can really use the hands-on support of their new witch friend: A cake baking competition is about to take place and Lea and Luis want to win by all means. And thanks to Petronella's help, the odds are not against them.

Hardcover

208 pages

March 2014

Ages 8+

Petronella Applesauce and the Cakeburner twins are delighted when a circus comes to town and pitches its tent. Before long, Lea and Luis become friends with some of the kids from the circus troupe. Finally, they get the chance to take a look behind the scenes. However, once the twins visit the circus, they immediately become suspicious of Goateerix, who fills in for the sick circus director: He pushes the little artists too hard in their training and shows no regard for the circus animals, treating them badly. When Lea and Luis witness him forcing one of the circus kids to perform a trapeze act without a safety net, the fun stops: Petronella has to come to the rescue - and she has to hurry!

Hardcover

207 pages

November 2015

Ages 8+

While Lea and Luis are eagerly awaiting the first snow, Petronella is busy sprucing up her apple. Her sisters, the weather witches, are coming for a visit. In the hustle and bustle of the Christmas preparations, nobody notices the strange guest that sets up residence in the mill. When Santa Claus did his last test run, he simply abandoned the audacious gnome. Now, he causes a lot of fuss in the miller house. In the beginning, no one has the slightest idea who might be behind the pranks.

They are all accusing each other and trouble is just waiting to happen!

Ages 8+

It is the height of summer and Petronella has her hands full with keeping the garden tidy.

That's when the twins, Leah and Luis, come with terrible news: Mr. Wimp, the nasty master baker, wants to buy the miller house. His plan is to tear down the garden and build a parking lot in its place. This cannot be happening! However, Wimp hasn't reckoned with the children and the little witch: While the little apple men start building all sorts of traps to protect the garden, Petronella, Luis and Leah concoct a terrific plan. Wimp has to be put out of business - once and for all. Fortunately, Petronella can help matters with a little magic...

If you like the stories about Petronella Applesauce and her friends, listen up because there is something new: a book, in which your friends can tell you something about themselves. In this friendship book, little Petronella fans can reveal where they live, how old they are, and what they would conjure up, if they had magical powers like the little apple witch. With numerous entry pages for writing, drawing, or attaching photos.

Sabine Stading was born in Hamburg in 1965 and even as a child, she loved making up stories. After writing three books that center on the character Magnolia Steel, a girl who finds out that she is a witch, she has now begun to write books for younger children. And also in her current book series the protagonist, Petronella Applesauce, is a witch.

Sabine Büchner, born in 1964, studied communication design in Wuppertal and animation at the University for Film and Television in Babelsberg. In 2006 she was awarded the Troisdorfer Bilderbuchstipendium scholarship. Today, she draws and lives with her son in Berlin.
