Where Do Pants Go?

Rebecca Van Slyke

Illustrator Chris Robertson

Where do pants go? Do they go on your head? Do they go on your neck? No! This humorous story shows kids how to put on their clothes—from the underwear on their bottoms to the hats on their heads and everything in between. But sometimes getting dressed doesn't happen without a few fun missteps! These adorable toddlers and their trusty dogs are sure to tickle every young reader . . . from their funny bones to the bottoms of their soles.

REBECCA VAN SLYKE is a second-grade teacher in Lynden, Washington, and has an MFA in writing for children and young adults from the Vermont College of Fine Arts. She and her husband have a college-age daughter and a spoiled mini dachshund named Sable.

Rebecca has published in Random House USA (Mom School and Dad School) and Sterling Publishing (Where do pants go?).

Sterling Publishing · 40 pp · New York, June, 2016

LEARNING HOW TO GET DRESSED!

“Children mastering the art of dressing themselves will surely enjoy the preposterous suggestions and applied knowledge. The crisp, clean, rounded pastel-colored illustrations make this an excellent read-aloud as well as a satisfying one-on-one experience. Each child is accompanied by a bouncy canine companion for extra cuteness. A smart breakdown of a daily routine.” — Kirkus Reviews

Nilpferd, G&G Verlag · 32 pp · Viena, July 2016

Every morning at 10 a.m. the dog Max leaves the ferry, walks through the little town on the island and finally lies down in the shadow of the church. But what is he looking for? He tells a different story to everyone who asks: he's escaping from an amorous cat, he waits for his lost father or he tries to catch a thief who has stolen his burse. When the girl Lina wants to know why he is lying, Max is disgusted. He does not lie, he is just telling stories!

Little Button

Yoko Ogawa

Illustrator Chiaki Okada

Little Button is best friends with Buttonhole. They're placed right under the collar of Anna's favorite blouse. One day, Little Button's thread breaks and she falls behind the toy box. In that dark dusty space, Little Button meets a Rattle, a Bib, and a Stuffed Animal that are no longer used and forgotten. Little Button tells them, "Anna can wipe her own tears now. She can eat without spilling on her clothes, and go to bed by herself – all because you helped her grow up."

YOKO OGAWA was born in Okayama, Okayama Prefecture, graduated from Waseda University, and lives in Asahiya. Since 1988, she has published more than twenty works of fiction and nonfiction.

She has written lots of renowned novels such as Hotel Iris, The Diving Pool or The Housekeeper and the Professor.

GIANNI RODARI From A to Z

Gianni Rodari

Illustrator Chiara Armellini

PICTURE

Edizioni EL · 128 pp · Trieste, 2016

A collection of stories and nursery rhymes by Gianni Rodari, the great wizard of words, the greatest Italian writer of children's stories of the Twentieth Century who, with his imagination and intelligence has always charmed adults too. The stories, fables and nursery rhymes included in this book are taken from his most famous collections. The criterion for selection is a purely alphabetic game, without any attempt to create a logical thread but simply playing with letters, commas, apostrophes and brackets, a criterion that we flatter ourselves would have pleased Rodari himself.

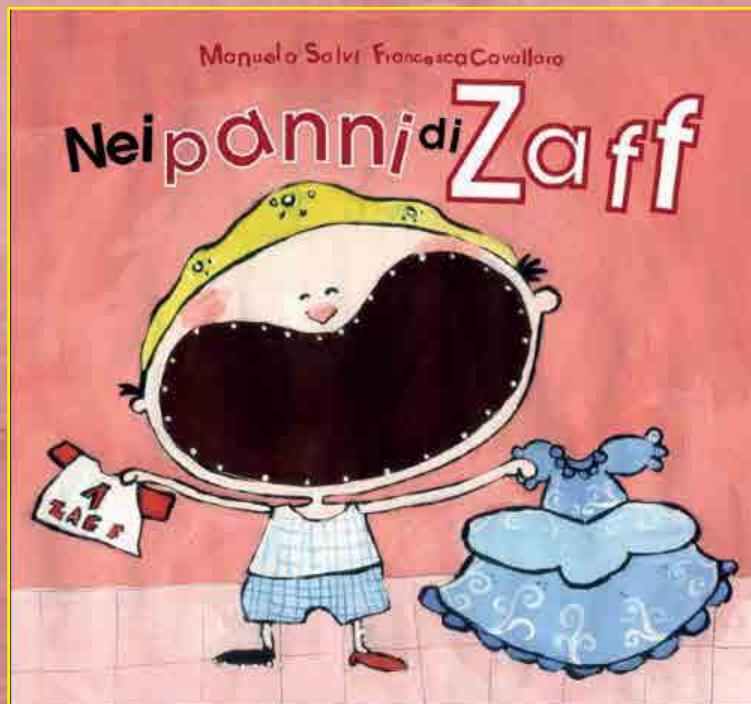

GIANNI RODARI (1920–1980) was an Italian writer and journalist, most famous for his children's books, notably Il romanzo di Cipollino. For his lasting contribution as a children's writer he received the biennial Hans Christian Andersen Medal in 1970 and many consider him Italy's most important twentieth-century children's author. His books have been translated into many languages.

In Zaff's Shoes

Manuela Salvi

Illustrator Francesca Cavalloro

Giunti · 36 pp · Milan, 2015

Zaff is wearing a crown on his head and instead of being the soccer player, he is delighted to be a princess. Whaaaat?! A boy who wants to be a princess? A sparkling and entertaining book that invites you to be what you are, learning to respect differences and always putting himself in the shoes of others.

MANUELA SALVI was born in Italy in 1975. She used to write a lot of stories when she was at school, mainly about Victorian girls who get into troubles after their parents die. She studied illustration and graphic design and made a MA in Children's Literature at Roehampton University in London. She has written YA titles that have been translated into English, German and Spanish languages.

FRANCESCA CAVALLORO has always been interested in children's illustration. After attending the drawing classes taught by Stepan Zavrel, she graduated at the ISIA of Urbino in graphic design. She does nowadays workshops for children and adults. Francesca has illustrated numerous picture books for Giunti and Fatatrac (Italy) and Casals (Spain).

Geekerella

Ashley Poston

YA

Geek girl Elle Wittimer lives and breathes Starfield, the classic sci-fi series she grew up watching with her late father. So when she sees a cosplay contest for a new Starfield movie, she has to enter. The prize? An invitation to the ExcelsiCon Cosplay Ball, and a meet-and-greet with the actor slated to play Federation Prince Carmindor in the reboot. With savings from her gig at the Magic Pumpkin food truck (and her dad's old costume), Elle's determined to win...unless her stepsisters get there first.

Teen actor Darien Freeman used to live for cons—before he was famous. Now they're nothing but autographs and awkward meet-and-greets. Playing Carmindor is all he's ever wanted, but the Starfield fandom has written him off as just another dumb heartthrob. As ExcelsiCon draws near, Darien feels more and more like a fake—until he meets a girl who shows him otherwise.

“Familiar fairy tale retold with a fun, modern, geeky twist Smart and funny YA voice”

ASHLEY POSTON's fangirl heart has taken her everywhere, from the houses of Hollywood screenwriters to backstage at music festivals to cosplaying at geeky conventions. New name, new haircut, new city. Hundreds of miles away from her dark past, young student Allie Harper wants to start all over again. The only thing her comeback is still lacking is a room in a shared flat. When she meets the incredibly attractive Kaden White she is sure that this guy with his tattoos and grumpy demeanour is the last person she would want to share a flat with. But when all else fails, Allie has no choice. Kaden, who actually didn't want a female flatmate at all, immediately establishes the rules for living together: no sentimentalism and absolutely no physical contact! Initially this is no problem, but the two gradually grow closer to one another – and eventually Allie no longer knows if she can stick to Kaden's rules.

The Other Mother

Andrej Longo

16-year-old Genny works in a bar on Via Toledo; he likes playing football and showing off on his moped. Tania's a year younger and still goes to school; she likes pink trainers and fish sticks. Genny's mother is forty but looks a lot older; she spends her time hemming jeans, charging 80 euro for 20 hems; every now and then she ends up on oxygen. Tania's mother is a policewoman; she's lean and buffed and is definitely not one to be messed with. One Saturday afternoon, on a street of the Vomero, Genny's and Tania's lives cross tragically – and a mother decides to take revenge. Her own way.

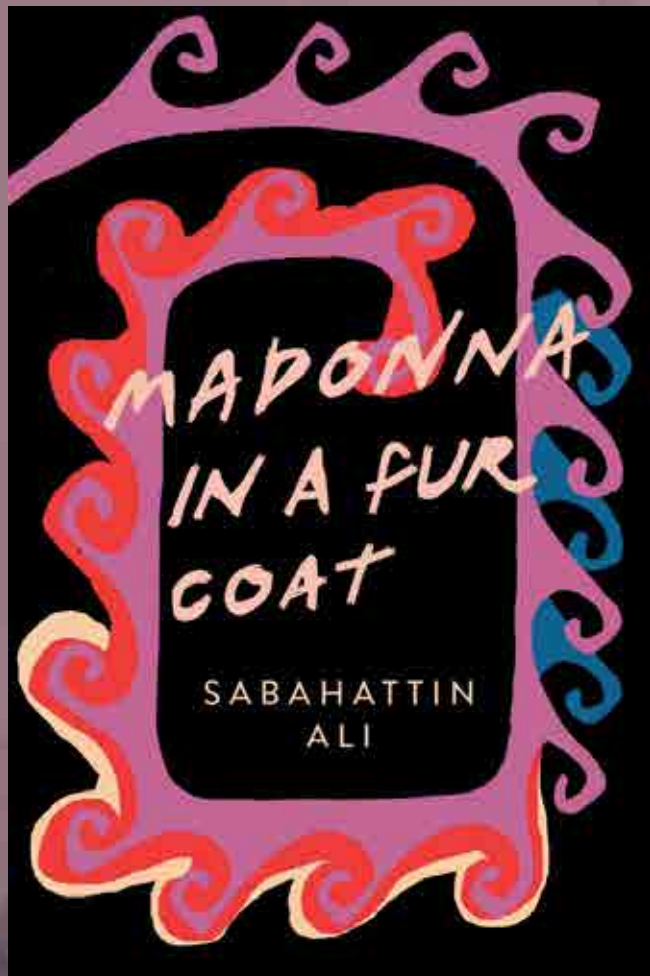

ANDREJ LONGO was born in Ischia, Italy. His name was given in tribute to Leo Tolstoy's War and Peace. Longo obtained an undergraduate degree in Hotel Management, and followed it up with a Master's degree in Literature from the University of Bologna's Faculty of Arts, Music and Theatre. He has published several volumes of short stories and novels.

Madonna in a Fur Coat

Sabahattin Ali

Rezim Kitabevi · 252 pp · Istanbul, 1943

A shy young man leaves his home in rural Turkey to learn a trade in 1920s Berlin. The city's crowded streets, thriving arts scene, passionate politics and seedy cabarets provide the backdrop for a chance meeting with a woman, which will haunt him for the rest of his life. Emotionally powerful, intensely atmospheric and touchingly profound, Madonna in a Fur Coat is an unforgettable novel about new beginnings and the unfathomable nature of the human soul.

'Passionate but clear . . . Ali's success [is in] his ability to describe the emergence of a feeling, seemingly straightforward from the outside but swinging back and forth between opposite extremes at its core, revealing the tensions that accompanies such rise and fall.' Atilla Özkirimli, writer and literary historian.

FICTION

Blessing/Penguin Random House Germany ·
400 pp · Munich, September, 2016

The autumn in 1950 sees the arrival of the young Viennese historian Max Schreiber at a village up in the mountains of Tyrol, where he is to research the murder of a witch in the 19th century. In the face of an archaic alpine world and a closed and distrustful village community, he feels alienated and isolated. In his loneliness, Schreiber increasingly loses himself in his love for Maria, a young mute woman, who is also being wooed by another man. When winter erupts with brute force, the situation in the village comes to a head: A peasant dies under mysterious circumstances, a barn goes up in flames, and numerous avalanches descend on the village. The inhabitants are gripped by claustrophobia and fear of death, and in the end Maria is dead and Schreiber has disappeared without trace.

More than half a century later an old man is determined finally to get to the bottom of what happened all those years previously. Pursued by his own shadow, he, too, goes to the village to use one last chance.

GERHARD JÄGER born in 1966, is a trained journalist and editor, who has worked for the Tiroler Tageszeitung and other publications. In 1996 he received the Vorarlberger Literature Prize for a novel that remains to be published. He lives with his family in Imst, Tyrol.

Like all of his friends, Ayoub avoids his home. Together with the handsome but simple Fouad and the half-African Maurice, they try to kill time in their Belgian town. And then there's Kevin, a young convert who wants to be called Karim. They want to live, have fun, find themselves girls and a future, but they remain isolated. Banished to the edges of society. They challenge the night, but the night is not to be trifled with...

El Azzouzi writes realistically, tantalisingly and with subtle humor about this clique that slowly degenerates into crime and radicalization. Ayoub, who is not convinced that either violence or the islam are the solution, watches how the situation escalates and his friends slip away, some into illegality and others even further, all the way to Syria...

We, the Outsiders shows what happens to the people nobody cares for and how normal boys can grow up to be perpetrators.
