Sara West

Blooming Hope

- Strangers to Lovers meets Workplace Romance
- Great drama, deep emotions, and a love for flowers

Rose Garden, Toronto's most enchanting flower shop and a place for romantic encounters – the new new adult series by Sara West

March 2025 · 448 pages

© Paula Taffel

Sara West decided to become a professional bookworm after her studies in German and Comparative Literature. Since then, she has been working as an editor at a major publishing house, where she can immerse herself in wonderful stories and visit special places every day. Blooming Hope is her debut as an author.

Because transcending yourself is sometimes like flying

The tragic death of her sister Mia more than a year ago left Thea Hughes without her most trusted person and, above all, lost within herself. On a whim, the shy florist decides to move to Toronto. In the same city where Mia seemingly found her happiness, Thea wants to make a fresh start. On her third day at her dream job in the Rose Garden, a flower shop, Thea meets customer Max. He orders a bouquet with a short, personal message from him each week. With every word, the handsome pilot writes himself further into Thea's heart. Max also feels strongly drawn to her, sensing a connection with Thea – yet neither of them realizes just how intertwined their lives truly are.

‘Sara West creates intense feelings with delicate words, in which you quickly lose yourself – and through which you find something that stays with you for a long time. Thea and Max's story thrives on a tangible fragility and it is precisely through this that it unfolds its strength.’ SPIEGEL bestseller author Merit Niemeitz

Love Will Find You. Mountain Dreams Series, Volume 1

- The start of the Mountain Dreams series by Isabell Bennett
- A cosy small town in the mountains and three attractive brothers
- A novel that strikes a chord with the target group

January 2025 · 336 pages

Isabell Bennett has put her heart and soul into writing for years and has already published numerous novels. These books have one thing in common: Isabell loves to write about love. She often takes long walks in the countryside with her dog Skadi and has dreamed herself into the Adirondack Mountains - which is how the fictional village of Berryfield came about.

Welcome to Berryfield, the most charming village in the Adirondack Mountains!

When the hectic city life in New York becomes too much for her, Emma decides to make a fresh start: she moves to Berryfield, a small town in the Adirondack Mountains. She wants to open an alpaca farm there. But as soon as she arrives, a near-accident causes her to clash with Noah, a sports coach from Berryfield. Noah doesn't think much of the city dweller, who is sure to soon abandon the 'country life' experiment. But Emma is different from what he thought, and the better they get to know each other, the stronger Noah's feelings for her become. But there is another reason why Emma left New York, and it threatens to catch up with her ...

Opposites attract: Climbing instructor meets lady with vertigo

When Nova decides to drop out of college and do Work & Travel in the USA, she's excited for an adventure – but ends up landing in the small town of Berryfield first.

However, she quickly discovers that the town has more to offer than she initially thought, especially thanks to the charming climbing instructor Hudson, who shows her Berryfield's adventurous side. Despite her fear of heights, Nova decides it's time to conquer it, with Hudson more than happy to help. Neither expected their connection to spark as intensely as it does. But Nova's time in the town is limited, and neither she nor Hudson is looking for a serious relationship. Yet, for both, it might be worth risking their hearts...

Lena Herzberg

Meet Me Under The Stars

- An old observatory, a sexy astronomer and a quick-witted astrologer
- Enemies to Lovers with the trendy theme of zodiac signs
- For all fans of Lilly Lucas' Cherry Hill series

Rights sold to: Russia (EKSMO)

July 2024 · 368 pages

© Sarah Kastner

Lena Herzberg tells her stories about love from an idyllic little town near Frankfurt am Main, where she lives with her husband, daughter and dog Ecki. Lena comes from a family in which books and reading have always been very important. Since 2016, she has been whisking her readers away to far-away metropolises or cosy small towns.

The Stars will show you love

Nova believes in horoscopes, finding profound wisdom in the alignment of stars. Weston is also devoted to the stars, but strictly scientifically. As a rock star of astronomy, he thinks astrology is pure illusion. Understandably, their initial meeting ignites fireworks. A few years later, Nova needs Weston, of all people, to help her with something concerning her past. So, under false pretences, she takes a job at the summer camp where Weston now teaches. Between the constellations and the signs of the zodiac, there is immediately this fierce tension again. Is it their opposites that attract them? Or is it that moment when they almost kissed?

Volume 1 of the Romance Trilogy Above Us.

Ambrose spent his childhood in astronomy research centres. While his parents worked there, he took refuge in stories. Today, his bookshop is his quiet harbour. When he hires Gemma, things get stormy. Because Gemma not only has a soft spot for tarot cards, but much worse: she folds books into works of art. Gemma overhears his mates talking to him about his lack of a love life and offers to play his fake girlfriend. Then Ambrose finds a note in a book from a stranger whose words touch him. He spontaneously writes back. But he also feels more and more for Gemma...

Tine Nell

Right Now With You

- Slow burn romance
- For readers of Kira Mohn

"Tine Nell managed to make me not only fall head over heels in love with the characters, but also so much in love with Sweden that I couldn't put the book down." – Maren Vivien Haase

May 2024 · 384 pages

Tine Nell lives with her husband, three children and a dog near Siegen, where she spends her days and nights writing and reading. She loves the silence, the sea and when thoughts turn into stories. She visited the old wooden town of Nora in southern Sweden herself for her research.

Sweden, a beautiful place of longing - sizzling romance underneath the northern stars

Alma, once a tired midwife, leaves the busy city of Frankfurt for the quiet town of Nora in Sweden. Here, she finds joy in her job again helping out at her aunt's practice. She meets Liam Hansen, a charming man, and the brother of one of the pregnant women she's looking after. She feels an instant connection with him, and it seems he feels the same. The beautiful nature that surrounds them only adds to the strong feelings growing in her. Yet Alma has a secret. Something from her past that she must keep hidden, most importantly from Liam. If he knew, it could ruin their budding love story.

Tine Nell lives with her husband, three children and a dog near Siegen, where she spends her days and nights writing and reading. She loves the silence, the sea and when thoughts turn into stories. She visited the old wooden town of Nora in southern Sweden herself for her research.

Bubbly Liv lives in Stockholm and loves her work as a tourist guide. Twice a year she spends time out with her aunt Edda in the small town of Nora. On her last visit, she foolishly kissed the grumpy Cai, whom she doesn't really like. This time she has to involuntarily extend her stay in Nora to help her family. She needs a temporary job and gets it at the elk park, of all places, which Cai runs alongside his outdoor shop. He is dismissive and seems annoyed by Liv's hasty disappearance after the kiss. Liv has no idea that behind Cai's cool façade lies a deep hurt that he doesn't reveal to anyone. But the closer the two get to each other every day, the stronger the attraction between them becomes.
