Dear partners, publishers and friends,

this year, we celebrate Sabine Bohlmann’s bestselling series with brand-new additions: “Ms Honey” blooms into a picture book while the kids of the quirky series “Welcome at the Grauses” set off to their next hilarious schoolyard adventure.

For everyone who loves magic, suspense, and classic fantasy “Flora Brimble” will be the perfect fit: Flora, Harriet, a stylish goblin, and an overconfident, fun-loving squirrel try to find the May Queen and bring back hope and spring to the world.

For more middle grade fiction don’t miss the electrifying grand finale of fantasy trilogy “Sepia” or the action-packed conclusion of “The Magical Library of the Buks”.

If fast-paced, accessible stories für 8+ are what you’re looking for, watch as shy, grey Edgar transforms into the superhero “Phantomouse” – Pet City’s saviour from the villainous crow Krabuse.

Or join “Simply Sunny”, the blind object finder, in a witty detective adventure, hunting for Ben’s stolen plush monster ... and perhaps discovering a true friend along the way.

Picture book lovers should not miss out on our evocative title, “At the Playground” during the four seasons.

We are also excited to launch a new non-fiction picture book series, tackling everyday emotions with expertise. The first title “I am not tired yet” explores bedtime rituals and evening routines.

As laughter is always in season, don’t forget “Dr. Brumm”, who turns every mishap into an adventure and puts a smile on readers of all ages.

We can’t wait to share a few good laughs and our passion for books with you in Bologna!

A house full of stories

- Picture book with house-shaped die-cut edges
- A look inside 6 apartments — from morning to night
- With lots of search tasks and an extra page about the residents

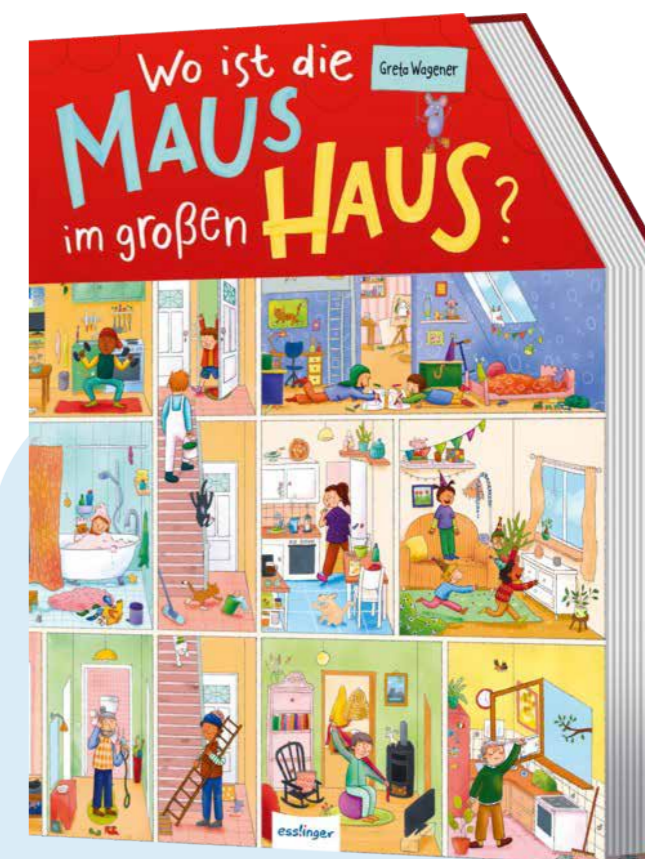

With great attention to detail, this search-and-find book depicts a day in the life of a colorful neighborhood. Six different families and households open their doors and offer exciting insights into their homes. Young and old live under one roof in the big house — and, of course, there are animal residents on every page: the little mouse keeps the three cats busy, and Oskar the dog finds an open door everywhere he goes...

Greta Wagener grew up in a small village in Germany. Even as a child, she made up stories and illustrated them. This eventually led her to study illustration at the Münster School of Design. Her work is most inspired by nature and small but special moments in life. Her dream workplace would be an orchard, surrounded by goats and sheep, with a purring cat on her lap.

There's a lot going on at the airport! A helicopter is circling above the runway. The tanker truck is waiting to be deployed. And the big holiday plane is getting ready for takeoff. But first, the luggage has to be loaded. The little ones use their fingers to move the planes and vehicles back and forth on each side. This way, they help with take-off, landing, and loading, and experience everyday life at the airport up close with great sounds!

On duty with sirens blaring! The police car is on its way to direct traffic. The fire department is securing a large bonfire in the park. The tow truck is rushing to the scene of an accident. And the ambulance is taking a young patient to the hospital.

Children can easily push the vehicles to their destination. They will experience exciting rescue situations with typical sounds!

For less stress in the evening

- A lovingly told story about bedtime rituals, evening routines, and children's needs
- With specific sleep tips and inspiration from a sleep consultant
- First volume in a series on everyday emotional topics

Mika is tired. Just a quick game of firemen, something to drink, look for Dino — and where is Mama? Falling asleep isn't so easy. But with loving rituals and a special story, Papa manages to calm Mika down. This picture book accompanies children and parents through a typical evening and shows how bedtime routines can be successful even with a few little detours.

A playground tells it's own stories

- Explore the playground in all seasons, day and night
- Follow little stories which develop from page to page
- Brilliantly and colorfully illustrated

The playground with the bright red slide right next to the blue house is a place full of adventures big and small! A familiar world where there is so much new to discover every day! In any weather and at any time of year. With the playground always at the center of the picture, Daniela Chudzinski tells many little stories to immerse yourself in. In doing so, she succeeds in an extraordinary way in capturing young and old as observers and participants in the action. Who will be the next to sit on the swing?

Daniela Chudzinski (*1972) has loved art ever since her childhood. She first studied illustration and painting, followed by the history of art, and has been freelancing as an illustrator since 1999. She has not only illustrated numerous children's and young adult books but has also been involved in exhibitions and teaching. A native of Hamburg, she has also worked in Stuttgart, southern England and the USA.

Holla, the forest fairy has magical powers and a huge heart. But when she tries to help the animals of the forest with her twirl-and-whirl magic, chaos is inevitable! The squirrel's nest she repaired collapses. Delicious giant strawberries disappear as if by magic. And the cozy mud bath turns into a bubbling green swamp! It's a good thing that scatterbrain Holla never gives up and shows what friendship means: standing up for each other and accepting mistakes.

A kitten for Paul – right?

- Surprising twists and funny dialogues make for maximum reading fun
- With a main character who is bursting with ideas and constantly turns the story upside down

DEIN SPIEGEL
Bestselling
Author

Paul is looking forward to getting a kitten – but in this picture book, nothing goes as planned by the narrator! Because Paul simply does whatever he wants, making not only the narrator but also all listeners laugh. The story develops anew with each page, full of wit and surprises, and invites children to help shape it themselves. This makes reading aloud a special experience: Paul's story playfully strengthens children's self-confidence and self-awareness and provides opportunities for conversation between children, parents, and educators.

Everyone wants more, more, more!

- A modern fairy tale about desires, consumerism and the right measure
- Clever, topical and told with a wink
- Maja Kastelic was nominated for the Astrid Lindgren Memorial Award

Ron builds himself a hut—just like that, on a Sunday. It's so great that soon everyone wants one too. And Ron? He builds: huts, houses, palaces! Ever bigger, ever crazier – until no one knows what he's actually doing it all for. When a storm rolls in, it becomes clear: not everything that glitters is built to last forever... A modern fairy tale about imagination, consumerism, and excess – told with humor and depth.

The Little Raven is angry: Löffel the rabbit laughed at him and made him look ridiculous in front of everyone else. He's going to get his own back on Löffel. Unfortunately, the Little Raven goes too far with his revenge, and in the end, the rabbit is hurt and terribly sad and wants nothing more to do with his friends. The Little Raven is sorry, he has to make it up to him. But only when the other friends help out can the two trouble-makers make up and become best friends again.

Nele Moost was born in Berlin in 1952 and spent part of her childhood in Sweden. After her German Studies she worked as an editor in a children's book publishing house. Today she writes stories for children and adults, which have been translated into 30 languages.

Annet Rudolph studied Graphic Design in Münster with the main emphasis on children's book illustrations. Since then she works very successfully as a freelance illustrator for various publishers. Annet Rudolph created the popular children's book character Raven, the little Rascal together with the author Nele Moost, with whom she became internationally well-known.

Let's celebrate 30 years of the Little Raven!

- The 30 most beautiful stories to read aloud for the 30th anniversary
- The thickest read-aloud book ever by the Little Raven
- Reading aloud promotes imagination, vocabulary, empathy

There has never been so much Little Black Raven in one book! The stories address topics that are important to kindergarten children: being afraid and being brave, arguing and making up, sharing, secrets, and the great adventure of friendship. At the end of the book, there are fun additional questions for each story that improve and deepen reading comprehension. This encourages children to join in the conversation — for even more fun when reading aloud!

The little dormouse and his friend, the mouse, don't have time to play today: they're both looking for a job. You don't need one until you're grown up, but you can't start looking too early. And there are so many exciting jobs in the forest! The hedgehog works as a hairdresser, the beaver as a dentist, and the pigeons are mail carriers. The little dormouse and the mouse want to try everything — until they find out what suits them best...

The little dormouse and his friends love summer! At this time of year, you can eat delicious ice cream and make lemonade, play with sand and water, or simply lie down on a meadow and observe nature. If you want, you can play with chalk, marbles, and soap bubbles in the yard or celebrate a wonderful party. Summer fun for the whole family!

Kasperl, Seppel, and Sergeant Dimpfmoser are dismayed: Robber Hotzenplotz has managed to escape from the fire station! To make matters worse, he has also kidnapped Grandmother and is now demanding a ransom. What should they do? Hopefully Mrs. Schlotterbeck, the clairvoyant, will have some good advice for them. Will they succeed in rescuing Grandmother and putting the robber Hotzenplotz back behind bars?

Anton is surprised when Betti comes to school with a mysterious box. There is a constant rustling sound coming from inside it. When the lid lifts after a while and a mouse jumps out, everyone is very excited. Ms. Kanne, the class teacher, is so afraid of mice! The children quickly realize that they have to catch the mouse. And that they need a really good plan to do so.

Where Ms Honey is, magic happens!

- Explores imagination, mindfulness, and small moments of happiness in everyday life
- The perfect introduction to the world of Ms Honey
- Perfect for reading aloud, comforting, and laughing together

"The flying carpet! Everyone get on board, close the doors. Careful during takeoff." That's what it sounds like when Mrs. Honey calls the children to brush their teeth in the evening – and then they simply fly to the bathroom on a carpet! Mrs. Honey is a nanny. But not an ordinary one. With her bees and pockets full of childhood memories, she works little miracles in family life every day. Because all you need for magic is a little imagination!

Ottilie is delighted. A family is finally moving into the house next door. With three children, a grandad and even a ... mop. No, it's certainly not a dog - and not one of them is like anyone Ottilie has ever known. At first glance, Moo looks like a normal boy, if it weren't for the tiny horns on his head. Grandad is a sprite who didn't pay much attention at the school for strange creatures and now constantly stands out in the world of normal people. Much to the annoyance of Mr Grottenolm, who marks every misdemeanour with a grey dot on his list. But can you simply return a grandad if he can't behave himself? Only one thing is clear to Ottilie and her new friends: a family is a family. No matter how weird they are.

Making friends is not so easy. And if your name is Grause and you have horns, pointy fangs or are invisible, it gets more complicated. And even more when you only have a week to do it and it's an instruction from the Institute for Other Beings. Fortunately, the Grause family already has their little neighbour as a friend: Ottilie Schmidt. She will certainly make sure that no one in number 13 of the cul-de-sac is left empty-handed. But what about the child in number 3, where a crow has suddenly started sitting on the roof?

A new adventure begins for the Grause family.

Now it's getting serious: Muh and Wolfi are supposed to go to a normal school like everyone else—with a timetable and lunch breaks. But they only gradually realize how much can go wrong when a little werewolf and a dilldapp meet normal schoolchildren. Between fire alarms, singing competitions, and creepy Grause music, their friend Ottilie also has to learn to stand up for herself—and above all for her friends. Because sometimes it's the weird stuff that makes us strong. The new volume in the funny and heartwarming series about courage, friendship, and the great adventure that is school!

Books disappeared from everyday life a long time ago. Videos and babbling avatars are everywhere instead. Finn, Nola, Mira and Tommy have never seen a book before! But when they discover the Buks' magical library after a storm, they learn about the forgotten power of books and accept the responsibility that comes with it.

Buks are guardian spirits who preserve books that no longer exist in the outside world, but lately a seemingly incurable disease is spreading across their library. Then the Crazy Oracle, which had been silent for years, prophesies that human children will save them.

Do Finn, Nola, Mira and Tommy have the power to bring back books – and thus restore happiness, dreams, cheerfulness and creativity to the world?

To prevent the destruction of the magical world of books, the Buks must embark on their greatest adventure yet: for the first time, they conquer the unknown "outside" beyond their magical library. At the same time, the children Finn and Nola use magic crystal medallions to travel through the world of the most amazing stories in search of the missing book master and the cure for the terrible bleaching disease. Meanwhile, Mira and Thommy discover the Secret Book Guild in the human world and come dangerously close to the unknown destroyer of books. But only together can they win this race for freedom and fantasy.

Flora & Harriet

Two worlds and a magical adventure

Flora and Harriet stayed sat in the library for a long time and recounted their adventures, which was very strange though, as one of the girls had invented the other's adventures herself. But what was it that Harriet's book said so often about Flora: "Reality is not as real in reality as it seems."

The two of them were like twin sisters who had been separated for a long time but still knew each other better than anyone else in the world. A feeling that was incomparable to anything – except perhaps the pleasant frisson of pouring hot cherries over vanilla ice cream.

"Oh, here you are," a voice rang out suddenly from a little figure in the shadows.

It was Percival, followed closely by Grisold.

"We were worried because Percival found your room empty," said the goblin.

"I couldn't sleep and was looking for someone to snuggle with," the squirrel explained, who excelled at snuggling.

"Why didn't you ask Grisold?" asked Flora with a grin.

"If goblins willingly snuggle with you, apparently their hair starts to burn," Percival replied, leaping onto Flora's shoulder and staring curiously at Harriet, whose hair also looked as if it were in flames.

Will Flora bring back the spring?

- Unusual storytelling with two female protagonists
- Outstanding narrative tone: perfect for anyone who loves magic, suspense, and classic fantasy
- An imaginative adventure that gives hope in dark times

Flora Brimble loves to write stories—preferably about her brave heroine Harriett, who lives in a world full of magic and adventure. But when spring fails to arrive in Flora's own life, her father falls ill, and the village sinks into gray, she sets out on her own to find the May Queen and bring spring back. Accompanied by a quirky goblin and a talking squirrel, she is amazed when she encounters Harriett. But doesn't she only exist in her stories? Flora doesn't have long to wonder, because she falls into the clutches of the truly evil witch Ych. Now it's up to Harriett to save spring and Flora...

Bastian Balthasar Bux steals across a book in an anti-quarian bookshop that magically attracts him: The Neverending Story. He steals it and reads in the school attic about the boundless realm of Fantasia, where the Nothing is spreading eerily. The cause of this is the illness of the 'Childlike Empress', who needs a new name to recover. But only a human child can give her that name. Soon Bastian realises that he is drawn deeper and deeper into the story of the young warrior Atréju and his quest to find such a human child. Could he himself be that human child?

Michael Ende (1929 - 1995). It was more by chance that he started writing for children, when he was asked to write the text for a picture book. Michael Ende let his love of telling stories take over and wrote "Jim Button and Luke the Engine Driver", which was an immediate and huge success after its publication in 1960. This was followed by other international best sellers, such as "Momo" (1973) and "The Neverending Story" in 1979. He is one of the most successful German authors, and over 35 million copies of his books have been sold in more than 40 languages. He was given many international prizes and literary awards for his works.

The breathtaking finale of the Sepia trilogy

- Classic fantasy meets modern friendship story
- Sepia pulls out all the stops and makes a deeply human decision
- The grand finale to the unique trilogy about the power of storytelling

Ever since Sepia opened the Heart of Flohall, an icy fog has held Ink City in its grip. Lights go out, books disappear, and entire houses dissolve. Sepia is running out of time—she must rescue her missing ink creature friends! Her search leads her, Niki and Sanzio through a hidden portal into the world of Flo, the heroine who once defeated the Ink Dragon. But behind the legend lurks an ancient curse that threatens to destroy not only Sepia's home, but all worlds.

An unforgettable summer

- Two teenagers against injustice, boredom, and the rest of the world
- A summer full of friendship and adventures that turn everything upside down
- A novel full of humor and authenticity

Summer vacation. Instead of the beach, there's the stupid vacation camp at the youth center. And Eddie. Eddie, who's always tinkering with his moped, but at least he's not as annoying as the counselors with their exaggerated good moods and stupid group games. Together we are a "we" — Eddie and I against boredom, against injustice, against the rest. Maybe it will be a summer to remember after all. Maybe.

While Vince fights for his life, everything falls apart for the girls: the police ask uncomfortable questions, dark secrets come to light, and the perpetrator remains at large. Liv and Sara, who barely knew each other, now have to rely on each other and find out what really happened. How much truth can their new friendship withstand? And how far will they go to save each other?

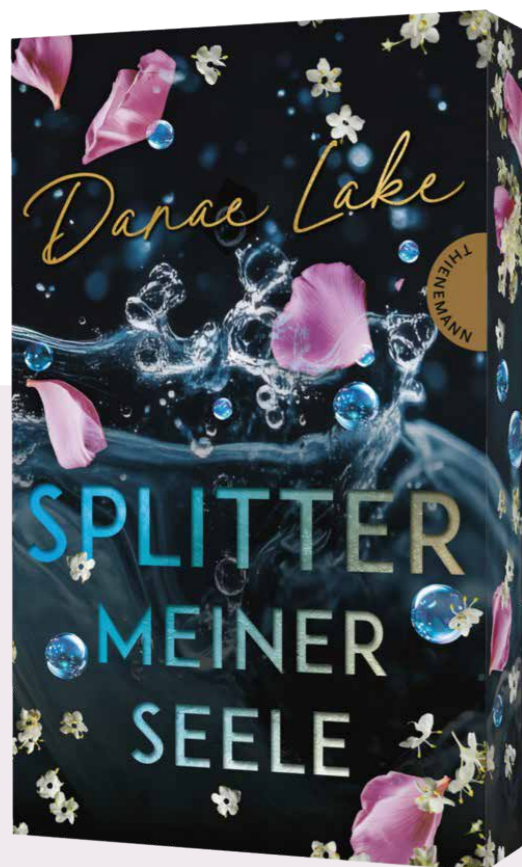

Svenja Diel loves to peer into the depths of human depravity and creates complex characters in her thrillers who become so close to you that you don't want to let them go. She lives as a freelance author near Cologne, where she also writes for German television series.

By day, Zusanna is a psychology student; by night, she becomes Zusa, a bartender at the hottest club in town. No one suspects her double life—and no one knows the scars she carries. Behind her lie years of bullying, humiliation, and a betrayal that changed everything. It's only when Zusa falls in love with Tjard that she begins to face her past. But the shadows catch up with her: hate messages, old enemies, new fears. With the support of friends, family, and her own strength, Zusa fights to finally find herself.

Danae Lake, born in 2006, began looking for ways to put her experiences into words and pictures at an early age. At the age of eight, she enrolled in drama school and three years later took on the lead role in a multi-award-winning short film; at fifteen, she began writing her first novel. The author is a senior at a grammar school.

A rock star who loses his heart. A woman who decides to live her dreams.

- Combination of popular tropes: enemies to lovers, fake engagement, single dad
- Humorous and emotional love story that touches the heart
- RomCom meets Romance - perfect for fans of Ali Hazelwood

Charlotte has had enough: her boyfriend has left her, her job is on the line and her new neighbour's parties are keeping her awake at night. But what she doesn't know is that behind the door of the supposed bad boy is Jae Seo, a celebrated rock star who has put his career on hold to take care of his little sister. When a misunderstanding catapults the two into a fake engagement, their worlds collide. But when the media gets wind of their relationship and Charlotte's past catches up with her, not only their love but also their future is at stake.

Teresa Sporrer always harboured a big passion for books: first as a reader, later as a blogger and now she herself is a successful author. Her series about reckless rockstars touched the hearts of many readers. Apart from witty and romantic love stories, she also writes fantasy novels about antiheroes such as heinous pirates or poisonous witches.

Who is the darkest in all the land? The kingdom of Phersia is frozen in eternal cold, but the real danger to Princess Neera is her mother's dark plans. Of all people, she wants to form an alliance with the demon prince Ciarán, the man whose mother Asmodea once cast the curse that covered Neera's homeland with ice. An ancient prophecy binds Ciarán's and Neera's fates together. Meanwhile, darkness draws nearer, and through an enchanted mirror, the banished queen Asmodea wields her destructive magic...

Michelle Thate, also known as the 'chaos queen of emotions' writes stories that get under your skin—honest, emotional, and deeply darkly romantic. Since her debut release Darkest Emotion in 2020, she has written twelve books, including the bestseller Prince of Hate, which spent four weeks in the top ten of the Thalia bestseller list. When she's not writing, Michelle lives between family, chaos, and coffee—and likes to lose herself in the darkness of her characters.

Have you ever wondered what power lies hidden in your dreams?

- High romantasy with big emotions and fascinating world-building
- Epic tropes: star-crossed lovers, slow burn, secret princess
- Series debut with nightmares, sleepwalkers, and phoenixes

Lio is a slave—without memories and haunted by nightmares. When she is sold to Izan, an enigmatic dream weaver, a dangerous journey through Aurikalos begins, a realm full of dream dust magic and twilight creatures. Izan needs Lio to rescue his brother from the clutches of a fanatical order of sandmen who use dream dust as a deadly weapon. In the process, Lio awakens not only her own magical powers and forbidden feelings for Izan, but also a forgotten truth: she is the key that will change both Izan's destiny and Aurikalos forever.

Bodyguard Meiling has lost everything: her home, her family—and perhaps even herself. Now she has no choice. Only together with Raven, her great love and son of her worst enemy, Lord Ignació, can she free the imprisoned Cole. But Raven's lies stand between them. While Ignació unleashes a war, Mei and Raven do everything they can to protect the last surviving dragons from his greed for magic. If they fail, Valtherra will burn.

Melanie Lane's love of reading fantasy and romance has made writing her absolute passion. As a decided feminist, she lives and breathes issues such as equality and diversity, which is always reflected in her books. She loves sarcasm, the sea and is an absolute animal lover.

Momo has a talent: she has a very special way of listening. She listens to the people from town, to the children, even to the animals and the wind in the trees. When Momo listens to her friend Gigi, he thinks of the most incredible stories. And Beppo the street sweeper, who is normally silent, finds the right words when he is with her and can share his wisdom: a path that seems endlessly long can only be overcome step by step.
